

Ever wanted to try watercolours?

They have a reputation for being difficult, but beginners often produce the freshest, most exciting results. To pause in a beautiful place, sit down out of the wind and lose yourself in the process, is a joy and a tool for relaxation that is accessible to anyone, irrespective of experience or supposed artistic talent.

Enjoy the stunning views on the beautiful island of Alderney and learn how to use this magical medium that can capture the nuances of the scenery round you. If you've never painted before, or have done so but would like some guidance in watercolour technique, or simply need help in making outdoor painting happen, then this could be for you:

For the first time we are offering a watercolour holiday on the beautiful island of Alderney, taught by talented artist Alison Cotton, staying at Farm Court <http://www.farmcourt-alderney.co.uk/> from 28th August – 4th September 2010.

Dates for 2010: August 28th - September 4th

October 2nd – 9th

Dates for 2011: May 21st – May 28th

June 28th – June 4th

This wonderful package includes:

- 7 nights en suite accommodation
- transport between Farm Court and Alderney Airport
- 7 breakfasts
- teas and coffees
- 3 whole days painting tuition and 2 half days
- a guided walk
- all art materials . . .

. . . the special price also includes the chance to sample some of Farm Court's renowned fare, with 3 lunches and 3 evening meals

Full price £675

£575 if sharing room with a painting friend or partner

£300 for friend or partner not taking part in course (includes breakfasts but not lunches and dinners)

For more details and booking please see <http://learn-watercolours-outdoors.com/painting-holidays/> or Phone 07773 471492

